Argentina vs New Zealand

The Rugby Championship 2023

Opta Facts

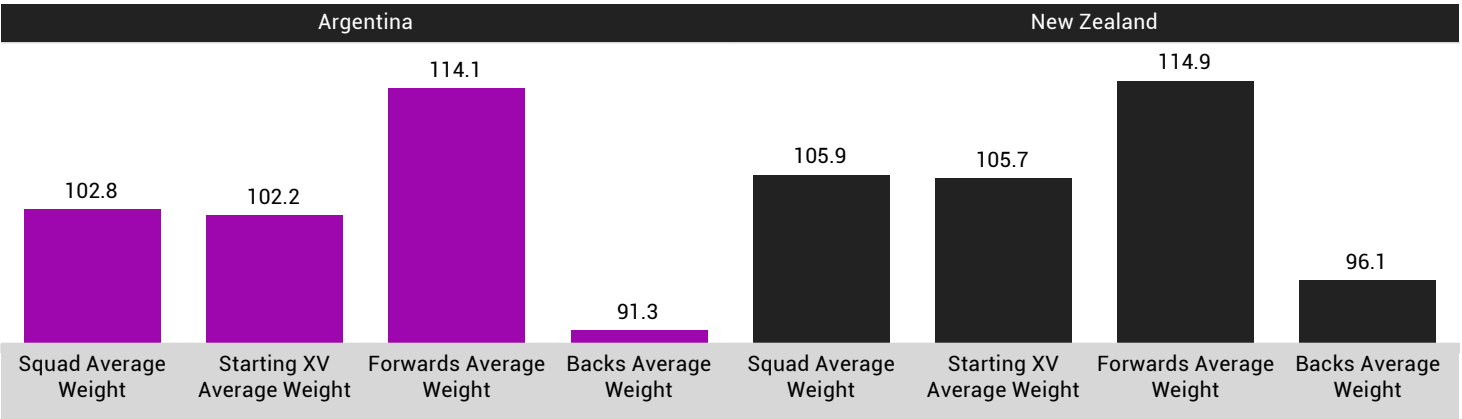

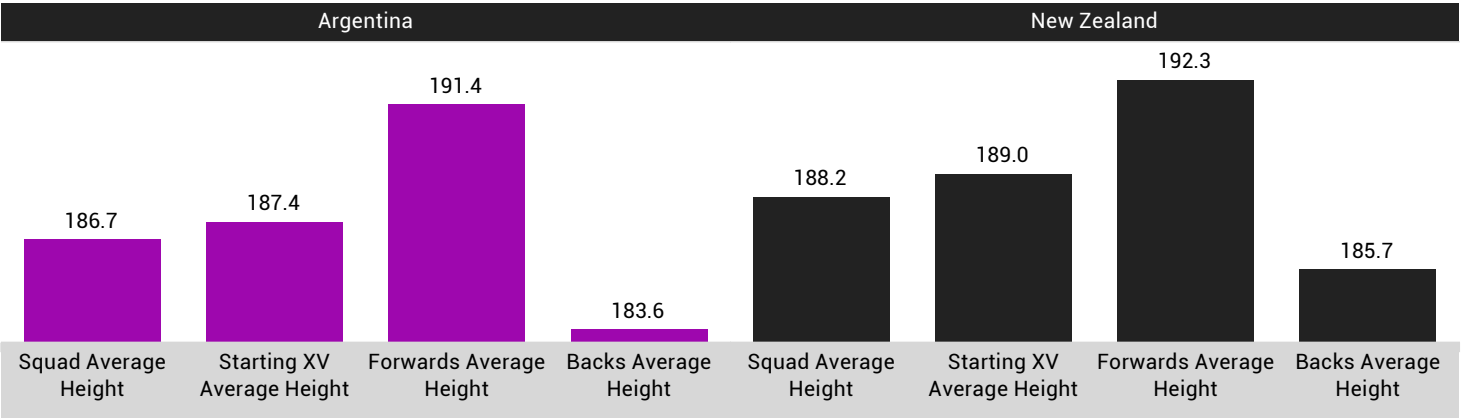

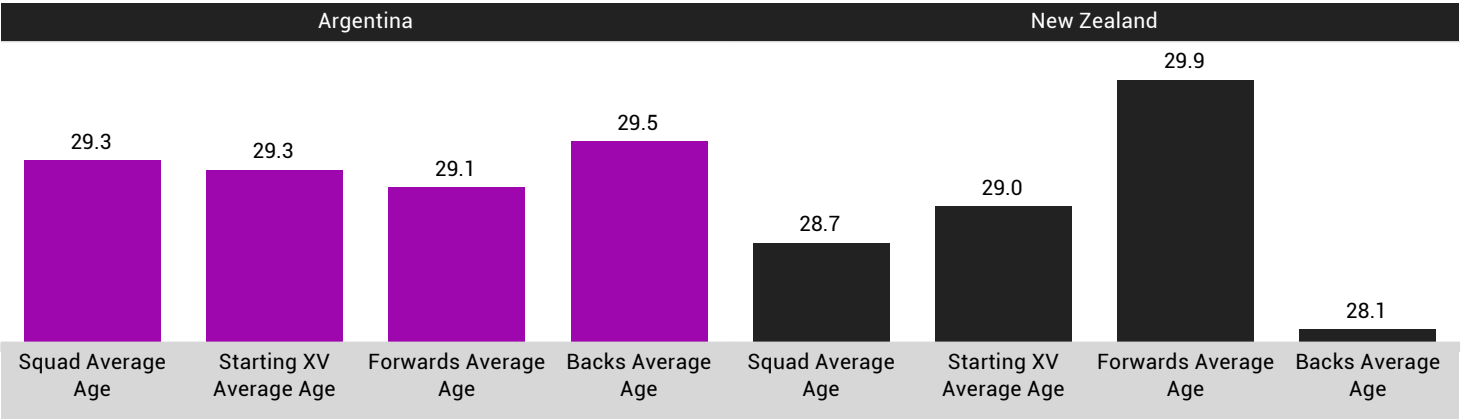

- New Zealand have conceded an average of just eight points per game across their last five men's Tests against Argentina (W4 L1), including two games in which they kept Los Pumas scoreless on the day and a 53-3 win in their most recent encounter (September 2022).
- New Zealand are undefeated against Argentina in men's Tests in Argentina (W12 D1), not once conceding more than two tries in a game in that period; indeed, they've trailed at half-time only twice in that period with the most recent instance being in June 2006.
- Argentina have won only one of their last six men's Tests (L5) and have lost their last two consecutive fixtures; their only win in that term came against England in November 2022 (30-29).
- Argentina have won three of their last five men's Tests played on home turf (L2) including a 48-17 win over Australia in their most recent game in Argentina (August 2022); they've not won back-to-back Tests at home since beating Italy and France in June 2016.
- New Zealand are undefeated in their last seven men's Tests (W6 D1) with their last defeat coming against Argentina in August 2022; they lost only one of their six Tests played away from home in 2022 (W4 D1).
- Argentina had a 93% success rate at exiting their own 22m zone in the 2022 edition of The Rugby Championship, the highest of any team in the competition, exiting on 69 of their 74 attempts throughout the campaign.
- New Zealand have made 25 dominant carries per game in men's Tests since the beginning of 2022, the most of any Tier 1 nation in that time and seven per game more than Argentina (18).
- New Zealand scored 2.9 points per entry into the attacking 22m zone in the 2022 edition of The Rugby Championship, the most of any team in the competition; they also conceded 1.7 points per entry conceded in their own 22m zone which was fewer than any other team.
- Juan Martin Gonzalez (Argentina) beat 11 defenders throughout The Rugby Championship in 2022, the second-most of any forward in the competition behind only South Africa's Jasper Wiese (15); Gonzalez beat six defenders in a single game in Round 5 of the tournament which has only been exceeded once by any Los Pumas forward in the last eight years (Thomas Gallo – 7 in Round 4 of the 2022 TRC).
- New Zealand quartet Caleb Clarke (551m), Rieko Ioane (538m), Jordie Barrett (435m), and Will Jordan (435m) made more carry metres than any other players in the 2022 edition of The Rugby Championship; in fact, they were the only players to make 400+ metres in the tournament.
