Estadio José Amalfitani

Argentina vs New Zealand

2025 The Rugby Championship

Opta Facts

- New Zealand have won 36 of their 40 men's Tests against Argentina including their last two in a row and have scored 40+ points in five of their last six meetings; in fact, they've scored more than 30 points in the first halves of each of their last two encounters.
- Argentina have never defeated New Zealand on home turf in men's Tests, losing 14 of their 15 games when hosting the All Blacks and earning a 21-all draw against them in November 1985 in Buenos Aires.
- Argentina have lost five of their last six men's Tests with three of those five losses coming at home on the day; indeed, they are one win from four home games in 2025 after winning three of their five home games in 2024.
- Argentina defeated France 33-25 in their last men's Test at Estadio José Amalfitani, their first win in Buenos Aires since a 41-13 win also against France in June 2010; indeed, four of their five losses at the venue in the last 10 years have been against New Zealand.
- New Zealand have won 10 of their last 11 men's Tests including their last five in a row and will be looking to win six straight for the first time since November 2022; however, they've outscored their opponent in the second half in only one of their last four games.
- New Zealand have won only two of their last four away games in The Rugby Championship, failing to score a second half try in two of their last three games outside New Zealand in the competition; though, each of their last four defeats in such fixtures have been against South Africa.
- New Zealand scored all six of their tries in Round 1 of The Rugby Championship 2025 from possession begun with a lineout, the most of any team in a game in the competition since it expanded to four teams in 2012; indeed, the All Blacks have won 90% or more of their lineouts in three of their last four Tests after doing so only once across their previous eight.
- Julian Montoya (Argentina) made 11 successful lineout throws in Round 1 of The Rugby Championship 2025, the most of any player with a 100% success rate, as well as making 11 carries and 11 tackles; he was the first Pumas player since himself in October 2021 to log 10+ in all three categories.
- Tomas Albornoz (Argentina) has scored four tries and 82 points across his last six Test appearances, including one try and 14 points against New Zealand in Round 1 of The Rugby Championship 2025; in fact, he also beat seven defenders in Round 1 which was more than any other player.
- Will Jordan has been directly involved in eight tries across his last five Tests for New Zealand, scoring five tries and making three try assists in that frame, while teammate Sevu Reece has crossed for three tries over his last three Tests against Argentina.
