South Africa vs Australia

2025 The Rugby Championship

Opta Facts

- Australia will be looking to defeat South Africa twice in a single edition of The Rugby Championship for just the second time since the tournament expanded to four teams in 2012 after a come-from-behind 38-22 win against the Springboks in Round 1 of the 2025 competition.
- South Africa are on a seven-game winning streak against Australia in men's Tests at Cape Town, despite scoring fewer than 30 points in each of those games; in fact, they've bounced back to win after trailing at half-time twice in their last four meetings there.
- South Africa haven't lost back-to-back men's Tests since November 2022 and will be looking to avoid doing so after losing 22-38 to Australia in the first round of The Rugby Championship 2025; furthermore, they haven't begun The Rugby Championship with back-to-back losses since the 2015 tournament when they lost all three of their games.
- South Africa have won their last four consecutive men's Tests at DHL Stadium in Cape Town despite trailing at half-time in two of those games and failing to score a first-half try in three of them.
- Australia have won five of their last nine men's Tests including their last two in a row; the last time they won more successive games was a four-game streak from October 2023 to July 2024.
- Australia began their 2025 campaign in The Rugby Championship with a win and will be looking to start either a Tri-Nations or The Rugby Championship tournament with back-to-back wins for just the third time (2008, 2015).
- South Africa made 14 offloads in the opening round of The Rugby Championship 2025, more than twice as many as any other team, and have now made 10+ offloads in each of their last two Tests after doing so only once across their previous eight.
- Kurt-Lee Arendse (South Africa) has scored one try in each of his last four Tests after not scoring any in his four previous appearances for the Springboks; furthermore, he's made an average of 2.5 line breaks and three tackle breaks per game across those last four Tests.
- Tom Wright (Australia) ran for a round-high 106 metres on the opening weekend of The Rugby Championship 2025 as well as scoring one try and assisting one other; indeed, he became the first Wallabies player to run 100 metres, score a try, and assist a try in a men's Test since Marika Koroibete against Samoa in September 2019.
- Joseph-Aukuso Suaalii (Australia) has either scored or assisted one try in each of his last three Test appearances, including one try against South Africa in the opening round of The Rugby Championship 2025.
