The Rugby Championship 2025

Opta Facts

- New Zealand are on a 10-game winning streak against Australia in men's Tests and have scored exactly 33 points in each of their last two games against the Wallabies; indeed, their last loss to Australia came in November 2020 at Suncorp Stadium (22-24).
- New Zealand have won their last four straight men's Tests against Australia in Australia after losing three of their previous five meetings there; the last time they won more than four straight matches against the Wallabies in Australia was a 15-game streak from 1938 to 1974.
- This will be the third meeting between Australia and New Zealand men's Tests in Perth with the teams splitting one win apiece across those fixtures, while Australia have won only two of their last five men's Tests in the Western Australia capital (D1 L2) after winning five in a row there previously.
- Australia have lost back-to-back men's Tests and will be looking to avoid three straight defeats for the first time since September 2024, while each of their last six defeats have been by a margin of fewer than 10 points on the day.
- New Zealand need to win by six points or more to ensure they finish The Rugby Championship 2025 without a negative points differential for the second time in the tournament (2019), while they've conceded 27.4 points per game which is their highest in a single edition of The Rugby Championship.
- Only three of New Zealand's last six men's Tests have seen the same team leading at both half-time and full-time on the day, with the All Blacks picking up four wins – including a come-from-behind win against France – in that span.
- New Zealand (30%) and Australia (26%) have played the ball wider than first receiver on a higher proportion of their total plays among all teams in The Rugby Championship 2025, with James O'Connor (31) and Beauden Barrett (25) receiving the ball more times at second receiver than any other players at the tournament.
- New Zealand have scored 14 tries from lineouts at The Rugby Championship 2025, five more than any other team, and have scored seven tries from lineouts across their last two men's Tests against Australia combined.
- Carlo Tizzano (Australia) has made 18/18 tackles and scored two tries across his last 85 minutes played in Test rugby – spanning five games – and he has scored one try in two of his last four appearances in The Rugby Championship; furthermore, seven of Australia's last 11 tries against New Zealand in men's Tests have been scored by forwards.
- Caleb Clarke (New Zealand) is on a four-game try scoring streak against Australia in Test rugby, scoring five tries in total across that stretch, including one try in Round 5 of The Rugby Championship 2025 which snapped a four-game tryless streak for him overall in Tests.
